

Aravin Suganthan CPS Lab 5 2/27/2020

PART II:

The difference between if ($x > 0$) and while ($x > 0$) is “if ($x > 0$)” runs the following code as long as x is greater than 0 and “while ($x > 0$)” runs the code in the following loop, as long as the given parameters are true for each iteration.